FROM THE DEAN

Georgia State University's College of Law is an exciting place to be. Its talented faculty is committed to providing a professional education that enables graduates to perform very successfully in a highly competitive legal environment. Its diverse student body brings together individuals with a wide range of experiences to contribute to classroom discussions. Its dedicated staff members do their best to ensure that this complex community functions as smoothly as possible.

Autumn 1992 marks the conclusion of the 10th year of the college’s existence. We are proud of the high-quality educational experience that we are accredited to deliver on a full-time or part-time basis. Our offerings include a combination of traditional classroom instruction, externships that are available in a wide variety of public-service settings and, for the first time this year, an experiment with a faculty-supervised, live-client clinic.

As the material in this bulletin indicates, this formal training is supplemented by a number of extracurricular program opportunities. All of our activities are enhanced by our downtown Atlanta location, which provides easy access to state, county and federal governmental facilities. The vitality of this environment encourages all of our students to fulfill their potential.

Our successful track record is acknowledged widely by those who have employed our graduates in private and public legal settings. I hope that you will seriously consider joining our community and am confident that you will find the educational experience at this college to be both challenging and satisfying.

—Marjorie L. Girtb
HISTORY
Georgia State University was established in 1913 as the Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce to offer business courses in the downtown Atlanta area. After operating 48 years under several different names, in 1961, under the leadership of the Board of Regents, the institution's name was changed to Georgia State College.

This alteration was brought about by the expansion of the types of academic degrees and programs offered by Georgia State. The first doctorate from Georgia State was conferred in 1965. The colleges of Business Administration and Arts and Sciences were joined by colleges of Education, Health Sciences, Urban Life and General Studies. The latter two colleges merged in 1981 to become the College of Public and Urban Affairs.

In continued recognition of the academic and community service strides made by the college, in 1969 the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia amended the college's name to Georgia State University. Georgia State continues to strive for academic excellence while maintaining its partnership with the community.

In recognition of both of these factors, the College of Law was founded at Georgia State University in the fall of 1982. In the 10 years since its creation, the College of Law has produced highly skilled graduates who have subsequently excelled in private and public careers. Come study law with us and join a diverse educational community at a challenging law school.

ACCREDITATION
The College of Law is accredited by the American Bar Association. Our graduates may sit for the bar examination in all states that base admission to practice on graduation from a law school approved by the American Bar Association.
The primary purpose of the College of Law is the professional education and training of attorneys for the practice of law. The college offers a program leading to the Juris Doctor (J.D.) degree in both a full-time six-semester program and a part-time nine-semester program. Ninety semester hours are required for graduation. Each student must, as a requirement for the J.D. degree, complete for academic credit at least one substantial legal writing project during his or her upper-class period of study. The same standards of admission and performance are required of students in both programs. Full-time faculty teach the courses in both programs and are assisted by adjunct faculty who have expertise in specific areas.

FULL-TIME PROGRAM

The full-time program requires six semesters, or three academic years, to complete. This program is designed for students who devote a majority of their time to the study of law.

Students in this full-time program must take a total of 32 semester hours in the first year. In the second and third years, a full-time student may enroll in up to 16 hours each regular semester. (See the outline for the six-semester curriculum on Page 5.)

The full-time program is rigorous and dictates that students make substantial time commitments to legal study. Full-time first-year students are strongly discouraged from attempting to work even on a part-time basis. Excessive employment and other personal factors can result in disappointing academic performance or academic failure. To limit this possibility, the American Bar Association requires law schools to enforce rules restricting outside employment. Students involved in employment for more than 20 hours in a week must enroll in the part-time program.

PART-TIME PROGRAM

The part-time program permits students the option to study law on a part-time basis. This demanding program requires students to balance carefully their educational, personal and financial needs to meet the demands of this degree program. The part-time program can be completed in four years if the student chooses to attend summer school. Many students, however, choose to extend their studies over a period of four and a half to five years. Students may not take more than six years to complete the J.D. program.

During the first year, students in this program pursue a 20-hour required course of study. In the second and third years, students enroll in eight to 11 hours of coursework in each regular semester. (See the outline of the nine-semester curriculum on Page 5.)

JOINT PROGRAM AND RESOURCES

J.D./M.B.A. DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

The College of Law offers a joint program leading to both the Juris Doctor and the Master of Business Administration degrees in cooperation with the College of Business Administration. Students must satisfy the curriculum requirements for both the M.B.A. degree as outlined in the College of Business Administration Graduate Bulletin and the J.D. degree as outlined in this bulletin. The College of Law does not permit enrollment in the joint degree program after a student has completed more than 40 quarter hours of 800-level M.B.A. coursework.

A student who has been admitted to both the M.B.A. and the J.D. programs and has declared an intent to be enrolled in the joint program must, at the first opportunity, complete the first two semesters of required courses in the J.D. program. After completion of these courses, requirements for both the M.B.A. and the J.D. degrees must be completed within eight years of the initial term of enrollment in either program. The J.D. degree must be completed within six years of the initial semester of enrollment in the J.D. program.

Law students must satisfactorily complete 90 semester hours of credit to receive the J.D. degree. Forty-five of these hours are required law courses. Of the remaining 45 semester hours, the College of Law will accept up to 20 quarter hours of 800-level M.B.A. courses with grades of B or better. These courses must be preapproved by the College of Law's J.D./M.B.A. adviser and will be converted to a total of no more than 14 semester hours toward the J.D. degree. No credit hours for the M.B.A. courses will be applied toward J.D. degree requirements until the M.B.A. degree is awarded. A simultaneous awarding of degrees will satisfy this requirement.

For students enrolled in the joint program, the College of Business Administration will allow 13 semester hours of law courses with grades of B or better to be credited toward 20 quarter hours of electives in the M.B.A. program.

The M.B.A. degree requires completion of 75 quarter hours of 800-level courses. The 800-level courses have two components: Common Body of Knowledge courses (55 quarter hours) and major or elective courses (20 quarter hours). Should applicants lack appropriate background in calculus, statistics, finance, accounting, and marketing, they will be required to take the 600-level courses in the area(s) where preparation is needed.

LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library is a growing center for legal research with a collection of more than 122,000 hard-copy volumes and more than 85,000 microform-equivalent volumes. The library's collection includes the court reports and statutes of all jurisdictions in the United States. It also contains selected materials of Great Britain and Canada. There are extensive holdings of legal periodicals, treatises and loose-leaf services in many subject areas, including international law. The library's microform collection offers access to historical documents and federal records. Materials unavailable in the library can be obtained on interlibrary loan from other libraries participating in the national OCLC network.

In addition to traditional materials and services, the library takes advantage of the capabilities of modern technology to provide access to information. The library has a computer lab for word processing and computerized legal exercises. Both LEXIS and WESTLAW computerized legal research systems are available for law student and faculty use. The library's collection is accessible through the online catalog, OLLI.

The professional librarians instruct students in traditional and computer-assisted legal research and are available for help with research questions. In the required course on legal research, students work with the librarians in learning the techniques of efficient legal research.

The renovated Law Library, completed in 1990, has 10 study rooms, study space for 375 students, a law review office, photocopy rooms and a computer lab.
PROGRAMS OF SPECIAL INTEREST

LAWYER SKILLS/ TRIAL ADVOCACY

The Lawyer Skills Development Program offers three areas of practical experience to provide a study and learning environment that includes in-depth research and writing skills. The program includes a clinic, seminars and externships. Smaller classes allow the application of different teaching techniques than those generally used in large sections and thus enhance the total learning experience.

Specifically, the three areas are externships, trial advocacy and a tax clinic.

Externships are designed to tie theoretical knowledge to a practical basis of experience in the profession. Externships involve actual participation in rendering legal services. Enrollment may be limited and the courses may be offered only to select students. Students interested in the externship program should contact the Lawyer Skills Development Office.

Trial advocacy has several components. The first is course materials comprising the second-year litigation program, which is offered in the spring semester. Students are taught the basic skills of trial work in both large and small lecture groups. Students receive intensive simulated exercises in the small seminars. Additionally, students may take advanced advocacy seminars in the areas of civil and criminal litigation, but cannot do so without completing the second-year required courses. Second, advanced courses limited to 12 students are simulation intensive and are designed to further enhance the student's skills in civil and criminal areas. A seminar course in domestic relations trial skills is scheduled for spring of 1993 with family law as a prerequisite.

Finally, trial advocacy offers students an opportunity to become members of the Student Trial Lawyer Association (STLA) or the National Association of Criminal Defense Law Student Division. The latter is in its first year at GSU. The STLA has been extremely active in participating in various competitions. The STLA combines the student sections of the American Trial Lawyers Association and the Georgia Trial Lawyers Association at the College of Law. The STLA annually sponsors student advocate teams in the ATLA Trial Competition, the National Trial Competition and the Georgia Intrastate Trial Competition. As a result of the impressive performance of our trial advocacy teams, Georgia State University was identified as having one of the top 12 trial advocacy programs in the country and was invited to the 1989 and 1990 National Invitational Trial Competition "Tournament of Champions." In 1989, a GSU student was selected Best Advocate at the NIIT competition.

The Tax Law Clinic permits students to assist individual clients to prepare their cases for presentation before the Small Claims Division of U.S. Tax Court and before the Appeals Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Under appropriate supervision, students will provide advice in a wide range of matters arising in regard to the Internal Revenue Code. Students will interview clients, research legal issues, analyze facts, and prepare protests and petitions.

MOOT COURT

The Moot Court Society consists of second- and third-year students who have distinguished themselves in appellate advocacy and who are interested in achieving excellence in brief writing and oral advocacy. The society competes in numerous national and regional competitions including the National Moot Court Competition, the Georgia Intrastate Moot Court Competition, the National Trademark Competition, the National Criminal Procedure Competition, the National Information and Privacy Moot Court Competition, the ABA National Appellate Advocacy Competition and the Wagner Cup Labor Law Competition. In addition, members prepare the case, problems and trial briefs for the appellate advocacy course competitions and serve as judges and brief graders in the Appellate Court competition. In its first nine years, the College of Law has fielded school teams that have won the Intrastate Competition, the regional NAAC and National Moot Court competitions, the 1988 National Championship in the National Moot Court Competition sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and the 1990 and 1992 Wagner Cup National Labor Law Competition. GSU teams have garnered eight first-place finishes, five second-place finishes and seven third-place finishes. Many of its teams have earned Best Brief awards, and four of its competition team members were declared Best Oralist in state, regional and national competitions.

LAW REVIEW

The Law Review is a legal journal published four times a year by second- and third-year students who have demonstrated outstanding writing and academic skills. An annual review of the Georgia General Assembly’s activity is published in the fall issue. This legislative review, known as the Bench Sheets, documents the legislative intent behind significant bills and provides the legal community with an in-depth view of those bills. Additionally, the staff of the Law Review edits and publishes articles written by scholars, practitioners and students.

Law Review participation provides an intensive educational experience beyond that required to complete the basic law school curriculum by enhancing analytical, organizational and communication skills. These qualities are highly respected by members of the legal community and are regarded as essential to the successful practice of law.
ADMISSION POLICY

Beginning students are accepted for admission only in the fall semester. To be considered for admission, applicants must follow the steps in the Application Process section of this publication. A candidate must have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university prior to registering for the first semester in the College of Law. Candidates for admission to the program are evaluated on the basis of academic and personal criteria. Students who have been excluded from another law school at which they are ineligible for readmission will not be admitted to the College of Law.

Academic criteria include the candidate's undergraduate work and the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score. Personal criteria include letters of recommendation from professors, employers or colleagues, work experience, the candidate's personal statement for admission, and extracurricular activities.

The College of Law has a rolling admission policy. A faculty admissions committee begins to review files in January and continues to review until the class is full. Applicants are encouraged to apply early and to ensure that all supporting materials are received promptly because a late admissions file may jeopardize your chances of being reviewed by the committee.

All applicants must take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) and register for the Law School Data Assembly Services (LSADS). The college's Admissions Committee uses all LSAT scores in reaching its admissions decision. The test and service are administered by the Law School Admission Services, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940; call 215-968-1001.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

Receipt of a law degree does not, by itself, entitle a student to seek admission to the bar. Each state has its own bar registration and admission rules. A number of states require a student to register with the state's board of bar examiners at the beginning of law study in order to be eligible to take the bar examination. Some states prohibit the practice of law by persons who have been convicted of certain criminal offenses.

The College of Law will attempt to provide students with the information necessary for bar registration. However, the final responsibility rests with the student to ensure that all requirements are met.
APPLICATION PROCESS

SELECTION PROCEDURES
The College of Law of Georgia State University actively seeks to enroll a student body with diversity in educational, cultural and racial backgrounds that will contribute to a rewarding legal education for the entire student body. The median GPA for the 1992 entering class was approximately 3.1, and the median LSAT scores were 57, old score, and 159, new score. The application process is highly competitive. There were more than 2,500 applications for 180 places in the entering 1992 class. Nineteen states and one foreign country were represented in the entering 1992 class.

Although the college relies heavily upon numeric components in its selection process, factors other than test scores enter into the decision-making process. The Admissions Committee gives consideration to the content of the baccalaureate degree, letters of recommendation and the applicant's written statement. Letters of recommendation may offer the committee insight into some special qualities the prospective student might bring to the legal profession that are not reflected in test scores or transcripts. The applicant's written statement also gives the college some idea of the personal and professional goals the individual seeks to attain through pursuit of the Juris Doctor degree. This statement offers the opportunity to include specific information that might assist the committee in evaluating the applicant's abilities and chances for successful completion of the J.D. degree. In addition, school and community activities, employment experiences and advanced study or degrees are considered in the selection process.

In reviewing applicant files, the Admissions Committee takes steps to ensure that its selection procedures and judgments are fair to all applicants, and that the students admitted to the college show promise of entering the legal profession with the highest ethical standards. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply, in keeping with GSU's commitment to recruiting those groups traditionally underrepresented in the legal profession.

ADVANCED STANDING
Transfer: The faculty Admissions Committee will accept as transfer students outstanding students who have completed the first year of full-time study at another American Bar Association-approved law school.

The prospective transfer student must provide a letter from the dean of the previously attended law school stating that he or she currently is in good standing and is eligible to return to the law school, and giving the student's class ranking. The letter must be sent after the conclusion of the academic term immediately preceding the desired semester of enrollment. Two recommendations, a current transcript of all law school work and the LSDAS report on undergraduate and LSAT performance also must be submitted to complete a transfer application.

No credit for advanced standing will be allowed for courses completed at law schools that are not accredited by the American Bar Association. No credit for advanced standing will be allowed for any law school course completed with a grade lower than a C or its equivalent.

Transfer students admitted to the College of Law must meet the following requirements in order to receive the J.D. degree: (1) earn a minimum of 60 semester hours (of the 90 hours required to graduate) at Georgia State University College of Law, (2) meet the residence requirement of at least four full semesters and (3) satisfy the degree and residence requirements applicable at the time of admission.

NOTE:Transfer students will have credit applied toward the degree, but grades from another institution will not be used in the calculation of the GSU average. Transfers will not be ranked until the completion of their program. In addition, the number of hours transferred may exclude students from honor societies because membership is based on class rank.
APPLICATION PROCESS

The deadlines for transfer applications are July 15 for fall semester, December 1 for spring semester, and April 15 for summer.

Guest: Upper-class law students at ABA-accredited law schools who are in good standing may apply as guest students for no more than one academic year to earn credit for transfer back to the degree-granting institutions. An application to attend as a guest student will be considered only if the dean at the applicant's degree-granting institution authorizes such attendance and agrees to accept the transfer credits earned at the College of Law.

Since our calendar does not call for an early graduation, we cannot guarantee early grades for guest students in order to meet the graduation deadline of their home institutions.

The deadlines for guest applications are July 15 for fall semester, December 1 for spring semester, and April 15 for summer.

Special Student Status: Graduate students who wish to take an advanced course in the College of Law in support of their academic program in another college at Georgia State University, and graduate students at other accredited institutions or those equivalent to some at foreign institutions, may apply for admission as special students. Any such students subsequently admitted to the College of Law as students in a law degree program may not count toward that degree any credits earned while in special student status.

Attorneys admitted to the bar of Georgia or another state may apply for admission as special students but, in that capacity, may only audit a course at the college with the permission of the dean and the instructor of that course. Attorneys subsequently admitted to the college as students in a law degree program may not count toward that degree any course credit equivalents attributed to them while in special student status.

J.D., M.B.A.: Applicants to the J.D./M.B.A. joint degree program must meet the entrance requirements of both programs and follow the application procedures of both the College of Business Administration and the College of Law. (See description of J.D. M.B.A. under the Juris Doctor curriculum for more details.)

INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

International applicants should understand that special grading standards do not exist in the College of Law.

Applicants whose native language is not English are required to take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) to demonstrate a satisfactory level of proficiency in the use of the English language. For information and appropriate application forms, applicants should contact TOEFL, Educational Testing Service, Newtown, PA 18940.

International applicants should understand that they must meet all application requirements, including the achievement of a satisfactory score on the LSAT. International applicants who attended and graduated from a college or university in another country must have an official transcript sent directly to the College of Law. International applicants also will need to provide documentation of their visa and financial status prior to admission. The College of Law does not have a program that allows international students or lawyers to take select courses in the college to meet bar examination or other requirements. There is only one—the 90-hour—program.

We will notify you when we receive your application for admission and $10 fee. In that notice, we will tell you what information is needed for your file to be complete. It is then your responsibility to keep current on the status of your file.

Whether you are applying for admission as a new, transfer, transient or guest student, your application will be carefully considered. Acceptance will be made only by letter. Unless you have received a formal letter of acceptance, it is unwise to make any plans contingent on acceptance.

Personal interviews are not a part of the application process. The admissions staff will try to help you with our admission process. You should note, however, that counselors have no authority to make admissions decisions. You should not construe any of their statements as promises or contracts binding the College of Law.

TUITION AND MATRICULATION FEES

Resident Students: The University System of Georgia requires no general tuition fee of students who are legal residents of the state of Georgia, and there is no charge for instruction, except for certain courses requiring instruction on an individual or small-group basis. Each student is required to pay matriculation fees. A student who is a legal resident of the state of Georgia, according to the regulations of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia, and who has been a legal resident of the state for at least 12 months preceding the date of registration, must pay resident matriculation fees. These fees are payable before a student is officially registered each semester.

College of Law Matriculation Fee: $7,380 per semester hour

Nonresident Students: Each student who has not been a legal resident of the state of Georgia under the regulations of the Board of Regents (see "Regents Requirements for Resident Status," on Page 16) for at least 12 months preceding the last day to register without penalty will pay the following matriculation and tuition fees before the student is officially registered:

College of Law Matriculation Fee: $7,380 per semester hour
College of Law Tuition: $14,760 per semester hour
Total: $22,140 per semester hour

All tuition and other fees are subject to change by the Board of Regents without advance notice.

SPECIAL FEES
"CLASS DEPOSIT"

To reserve a place in the incoming class, an accepted applicant must submit a nonrefundable deposit of $50. This deposit will be applied to matriculation fees upon registration for the first semester.

STUDENT ACTIVITY AND ATHLETICS FEES

A student activity fee of $52.50 and an athletics fee of $34.50 are charged each fall and spring semester to every law student registered for courses to be conducted at Georgia State University. Summer semester fees are lower. Student activity fees are utilized to provide cultural, social and athletics programs for the entire student body. In addition, these fees provide financial support for student facilities at the university, guest speakers and lecturers, student publications, and similar projects that are available primarily for the use of the students of Georgia State University.

FINANCIAL AID

The Office of Student Financial Services provides financial assistance to needy students who without such help would be unable to attend Georgia State University. Students who are in need of financial assistance are encouraged to apply early. The suggested completion date for priority consideration is May 1 for the fall semester. Students must complete an approved need-analysis form, such as USAF (SingleFile), ACT (FAS), CSS (FAF) or the federal AISFA, listing Georgia State University as the school to receive information. Georgia State University routinely provides the SingleFile form and strongly encourages students to use the form since it is free.

NOTE: Georgia State University does not use the Graduate and Professional School Financial Aid Services (GAPSFAS).

Financial aid applications and information concerning Law Access Loans and Law Loans are available from the Office of Student Financial Services, P.O. Box 1040, Atlanta, Georgia 30302-1040.

The College of Law awards a number of scholarships and resident fee waivers to students of superior scholarship and good character who are accepted for admission to the first year class. Continuation of scholarship aid after the first year in the College of Law will be contingent upon several factors, including, but not necessarily limited to, superior achievement in the study of law. All applicants, once accepted, are considered for the various scholarships and waivers available in the College of Law. In addition, research assistantships are available to qualified students and applicants.
REGENTS' REQUIREMENTS FOR RESIDENT STATUS

A person's legal residence is his or her permanent dwelling place. It is the place where he or she is generally understood to reside with the intent of remaining there indefinitely and returning there after an absence. To acquire a legal residence, there must be a concurrence of actual residence and of intent to remain.

Students are responsible for notifying the residence auditor of incorrect residence classifications and will be liable for additional fees. Individuals who are classified by Georgia State University as nonresident but who later claim to qualify as legal residents must file a Petition for Georgia Residence Classification form with the residence auditor in the Office of Admissions. Residence status is not changed automatically, and the burden of proof rests with the student to demonstrate that he or she qualifies as a legal resident under the regulations of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. To ensure timely completion of required processing, a student or applicant requesting a change of residence classification for a specific semester should file the Petition for Georgia Residence Classification and all supporting documentation not later than three weeks (15 working days) prior to registration for that semester. Final determination of Georgia residence classification prior to registration cannot be guaranteed for petitions received after the foregoing date. If you have questions, please call 404/651-1049.

Petitions for Georgia Residence Classification and all supporting documentation must be filed with the residence auditor no later than 60 days after the beginning of a specific semester for which classification as a legal resident for fee payment purposes is requested. Petitions received after that time will not be considered for that semester. If the petition is approved, classification as a legal resident for fee payment purposes will not be retroactive to prior semesters.

Legal residents of Georgia, as well as certain categories of nonresidents, may be enrolled upon payment of resident fees in accordance with the following Regents' rules:

1. (a) If a person is 18 years of age or older, he or she may register as an in-state student only upon a showing that he or she has been a legal resident of Georgia for a period of at least 12 months immediately preceding the date of registration.

(b) No emancipated minor (sui juris) or person 18 years of age or older shall be deemed to have gained or acquired in-state status for tuition purposes while attending any educational institution in this state in the absence of a clear demonstration that he or she has in fact established legal residence in the state of Georgia.

2. If a person is under 18 years of age, he or she may register as an in-state student only upon a showing that his or her supporting parent or guardian has been a legal resident of Georgia for a period of at least 12 months immediately preceding the date of registration.

3. If a parent or legal guardian of a minor changes his or her legal residence to another state following a period of legal residence in Georgia, the minor may continue to take courses for a period of 12 consecutive months on the payment of in-state tuition. After the expiration of the 12-month period, the student may continue his or her registration only upon the payment of fees at the out-of-state rate.

4. In the event that a legal resident of Georgia is appointed as guardian of a nonresident minor, such minor will be permitted to register as an in-state student until the expiration of one year from the date of court appointment and then only upon a proper showing that such appointment was not made to avoid payment of the out-of-state fees.

5. Aliens shall be classified as nonresident students; provided, however, that an alien who is living in this country under an immigration document permitting indefinite or permanent residence shall have the same privilege of qualifying for in-state tuition as a citizen of the United States.

6. Waivers: An institution may waive out-of-state tuition for:

(a) nonresident students who are financially dependent upon a parent, parents or spouse who has been a legal resident of Georgia for at least 12... consecutive months immediately preceding the date of registration, provided, however, that such financial dependence shall have existed for at least 12 consecutive months immediately preceding the date of registration;

(b) international students, selected by the appropriately authorized university official, provided, however, that the number of such waivers in effect at any time does not exceed one percent of the equivalent full-time students enrolled at the institution in the fall semester immediately preceding the semester for which the out-of-state tuition is to be waived;

(c) full-time employees of the University System, their spouses and their dependent children;

(d) medical and dental interns at the Medical College of Georgia;

(e) full-time teachers in the public schools of Georgia and their dependent children. Teachers employed full-time on military bases in Georgia also shall qualify for this waiver;

(f) career consular officers and their dependents who are citizens of the foreign nation that their consular office represents and who are stationed and living in Georgia under orders of their respective governments. This waiver shall apply only to those consular officers whose nations operate on the principle of educational reciprocity with the United States;

(g) military personnel and their dependents stationed in Georgia and on active duty unless such military personnel are assigned as students to University System institutions for educational purposes;

(h) selected graduate students at university-level institutions;

(i) students who are legal residents of out-of-state counties bordering on Georgia counties in which an institution of the University System is located and who are enrolled in said institution.

The College of Law regards participation in student organizations as an important part of the legal education experience and, for this reason, encourages the creation and activities of a wide variety of student organizations, some traditionally found in law schools, some less common. We are proud of the accomplishments of these student organizations and will continue to support and encourage them.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

The Student Bar Association (SBA) is the student government organization for the College of Law. Each student, upon official enrollment in the college, is automatically a member of the SBA, which is composed of two branches: the Executive Board and the Honor Court. The Executive Board consists of four officers and three representatives from each class—a day representative, an evening representative, and a representative-at-large. Elections to the SBA Executive Board occur in spring semester, and the incoming first-year students elect their representatives in October. The Honor Court members are also elected by students. The Student Bar Association provides several services for the students including a coffee service. The SBA sponsors a number of activities during the year.

This is a group of conservatives and libertarians interested in the current state of the legal order. It is founded on the principles that the state exists to preserve freedom, that the separation of governmental powers is central to our Constitution and that it is emphatically the province and duty of the judiciary to say what the law is, not what it should be. The society seeks both to promote an awareness of these principles and to further their application through its activities.

GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY PUBLIC INTEREST LAW GROUP
This organization is dedicated to encouraging law students to pursue careers in public-interest law. The organization is open to all College of Law students. Each year, the group sponsors several programs and panel discussions on such careers. These awards are funded by donations from students and faculty.

INTERNATIONAL AND COMPARATIVE LAW SOCIETY
The International and Comparative Law Society exists to generate an awareness of the role and function of international and comparative law in the modern world and to introduce students to the career opportunities available in these fields. The society sponsors monthly programs on matters of current interest in the international community, an annual symposium on critical issues in international and comparative law, and, in addition, sponsors participation in the Jessup Moot Court Competition each spring.

LESBIAN AND GAY LAW STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
Established in 1991 to provide a supportive environment for lesbian and gay law students at GSU, the Lesbian and Gay Law Students Association encourages personal as well as academic development. It also aims to foster a positive educational environment by providing the student body, faculty and staff with opportunities to increase their awareness and understanding of the lesbian and gay community and the legal issues that affect it. The association also maintains relationships with gay and gay-sensitive employers, providing a network between students and employers that might not otherwise exist.
