

2019

Introduction

Julian Conrad Juergensmeyer
Georgia State University College of Law, jjurgensmeyer@gsu.edu

Karen Johnston
kjohnston3@gsu.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://readingroom.law.gsu.edu/jculp>

Part of the Comparative and Foreign Law Commons, Environmental Law Commons, Land Use Law Commons, and the Urban Studies Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Juergensmeyer, Julian Conrad and Johnston, Karen (2019) "Introduction," Journal of Comparative Urban Law and Policy. Vol. 3 : Iss. 1 , Article 1, 1-1.

Available at: <https://readingroom.law.gsu.edu/jculp/vol3/iss1/1>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Reading Room. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Comparative Urban Law and Policy by an authorized editor of Reading Room. For more information, please contact mbutler@gsu.edu.

INTRODUCTION

We are pleased to publish the third volume of the Journal of Comparative Urban Law and Policy, a publication of the Center for the Comparative Study of Metropolitan Growth at Georgia State University College of Law. The Journal has achieved remarkable success since launching in May 2017 and is now read in 138 countries and counting!

This edition contains comparative research articles written by participants of the eleventh Study Space Program held in Singapore June 17-22, 2018. The theme of the program was City Redevelopment, Infrastructure and Heritage in the Era of Climate Change.

Study Space is an annual weeklong workshop that brings together scholars and practitioners from around the world to study critical issues facing metropolitan regions. It is held in a different city every year, providing an opportunity for participants to engage in comparative research and networking around the globe.

A wide range of articles are covered in this edition – rainwater harvesting, cultural heritage protection, climate change, urban planning, urban development, and smart cities.

We thank our partners and friends, Kevin Tan, President, ICOMOS Singapore, and Jack Lee, President of the Singapore Heritage Society and member of ICOMOS Singapore, for their immense help in planning the Study Space Singapore Program. We also thank our sponsoring partners ICOMOS Singapore and Konrad Adenauer Stiftung Regional Project Energy Security and Climate, whose generous support enabled broad participation by leading law and policy experts across Asia and from Germany. We specifically thank Eric Lee, Project Manager, Regional Project Energy Security and Climate, for his help identifying and coordinating the wide variety of speakers from Hong Kong, China, India, Philippines and Germany.

We hope you enjoy this issue of comparative urban law and policy articles.

Sincerely,

Julian Conrad Juergensmeyer
Ben F. Johnson Jr. Chair in Law
Director, Center for the Comparative Study of Metropolitan Growth
Editor in Chief

Karen Marie Johnston
Associate Director, Center for the Comparative Study of Metropolitan Growth
Managing Editor