PROFILE OF THE COLLEGE OF LAW

Georgia State University College of Law in downtown Atlanta offers extraordinary educational opportunities. Our high-quality part-time and full-time programs facilitate mastery of the knowledge and professional skills demanded by today’s global economy. Courses are offered in the day and evenings. Full-time faculty teach equally in both programs, and part-time students have access to all programs and resources available to full-time students.

The college’s proximity to Atlanta’s major law firms and corporate offices enhances these educational programs, and our externship program places students in practice settings in these agencies to work under the supervision of judges and practicing lawyers. Georgia State students quickly learn to integrate their knowledge of legal theory with the wide array of practical skills needed to practice law successfully.

COLLEGE OF LAW INFORMATION

College of Law Policies, Curriculum and Course Descriptions

The Georgia State University College of Law's official policies are found in the College of Law Bulletin. The Bulletin also includes course descriptions and important information about the academic program and the Honor Code. The Bulletin is distributed to all incoming students during registration and is posted on the College of Law's web site at http://law.gsu.edu. The College of Law's web site also includes helpful information about courses, assignments, class schedules, students organizations, career services, the law library, upcoming events and the like. All students are encouraged to explore these web pages.

Academic Enrichment Program

During the first year, the College of Law offers an Academic Enrichment Program consisting of weekly tutorials and a series of workshops. The tutorials focus on particular first year courses. The workshops focus on the development of study skills, including sessions on exams and note taking. The tutorials are lead by selected second and third year.

Technology

Email - All students are assigned an email address upon their arrival at the College of Law. The College of Law uses email to communicate with students and to post important announcements. In addition, many professors use email discussion lists to facilitate communication and discussion with students outside of class hours. It is important that you check your email regularly. Details about the assignment of email addresses will be provided to you during orientation. If you would prefer to use your own personal email address in your communication with the College of Law rather than the one assigned to you, you may update our official records by filling out a form online. At http://law.gsu.edu.

Must I Own a Computer? - Last year over 87% of entering students owned a computer. While the College of Law does not require students to own a computer, students must have access to the Internet and Email. Students who do not own a computer, can access the Internet and Email by using one the computers in the Law Library Computer Lab. Law Librarians are available to assist students on how to use the computers in the computer lab for this purpose.

If you are considering the purchase of a computer and want recommendations, you may visit http://law.gsu.edu/student-technology/.

Desktop v. Laptop - Either desktop or laptop is sufficient to support your law study. One advantage of a laptop is, you can, with Ethernet card, connect to the College of Law network from several ports available outside the computer lab.

Internet connectivity - The Law Library study rooms, carrels, and room 170 all have ports to allow you to use your laptops to connect to the Internet using an Ethernet card as mentioned above.

Web services - The College of Law’s web site has a vast array of information for students. All of the following links can easily be found from our college main page, http://law.gsu.edu:

Assignment Board (http://gsulaw.gsu.edu/wwwwebbb/col/assignments/) - contains current class assignments for students. A paper copy of this board is located on the 3rd floor.

Course Information (http://law.gsu.edu/courses) - contains reading materials, a syllabus, assignments, and any other related information for current courses.

Registrar (http://law.gsu.edu/registrar/) - contains information on academic calendar, bulletin, curriculum planning, course descriptions, class schedule, final exam schedule, graduation information, and frequently asked questions.

College of Law Events

The College of Law sponsors several speakers, events and programs throughout the year. Many of the activities are coordinated by the College of Law’s faculty and student organizations. Listed below are the annual scheduled events.

Ben Johnson Award

The Ben F. Johnson Jr. Award is presented annually in the spring to a Georgia lawyer whose life and career reflect the high tradition of selfless public service. This award was named in the honor of the founding dean.

Career Services

The Career Services Office sponsors many programs and workshops throughout the year to assist students in assessing career options and learning how to navigate the recruitment process.

Henry Miller Lecture Series

The Henry Miller Distinguished Lecture Series supports two lectures each year. Past speakers include several national figures such as Supreme Court Justices Anthony M. Other Important Information

Locker Rentals

Lockers are located on the first and second floors of the College of Law. Lockers can be rented on an annual or semester basis. Visit the fourth floor receptionist in the College of Law to rent your locker.

Mailboxes

Mailboxes are a means of communication with the students from the faculty and administration. Mailboxes are located on the second floor of the College of Law. Each law student will receive a mailbox and key, which will be distributed during the first week of law school. During orientation, students can visit room 620 in the College of Law to receive their mailbox key.

Lost and Found

The Police Department accepts and holds found objects on the first floor of One Park Place South, 15 Edgewood Avenue. Inquiries can be made there for property lost on campus. Because of limited space, unclaimed articles are disposed of in a reasonable period of time. For more information, call 651-2767. (The College of Law Library, 3rd and 4th floor receptionists are also places to look for lost items.)

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is Orientation?

Orientation is a time to welcome our new students and to introduce you to our law school and community. You should plan for long days, because there is much to do.

How is it different from Introduction to Law?

"Introduction to Law" is an academic three day course that is part of your first-year law curriculum. It is designed to provide you with interesting and useful introduction to the study of law.

What is a Small Group Advisors?

Upon arrival, you will be assigned to a Small Group Advisor. Each small group will be lead by an upper class student who will serve as group advisor. The Small Group Advisors will meet during orientation.

Must I get a student ID card?

Yes, all students must acquire a PantherCard, the official Georgia State University identification card. The PantherCard is used as a library card, for after hours access to many facilities, and as a debit card for users who choose to take advantage of the PantherCash debit card program. Cards may be obtained by visiting a PantherCard location two (2) business days after payment of student fees. PantherCard offices are located. The PantherCard locations are Auxiliary Service Offices, 213 University Bookstore Building and 193 Kell Hall.

Will the College of Law provide me with an email address? How do I get one?

The College of Law provides an email address to all incoming law students. The process for getting an email address is very simple, and no application needs to be completed. The information will be presented to you during the first week of orientation. If you have your email address, and would prefer to use it instead of the one assigned to you, you may update our records by filling out a form online at http://law.gsu.edu.

How can I find the College of Law and Georgia State University on the Internet?

How may I arrange accommodations if I have a disability?
Services are provided at no cost to students with disabilities. It is important that students provide documentation of their disability, test reports, and any school records for review. This information will help the Office of Disability Services to provide the appropriate academic accommodations and support services. If you have any questions or would like additional information, please contact the Office of Disability Services at Suite 230 Student University Center or 404-463-9044.

Can I work while attending law school?

As a full-time law school, the College of Law adheres to American Bar Association policy requiring students to devote substantially all of their working hours to the study of law. Academic schedules and minimum load requirements are designed to reflect this policy. Full-time students may not be employed more than 20 hours per week. Part-time students may maintain full-time employment. However, it should be noted that this is a very demanding program and requires students to carefully balance their education, personal and financial needs to meet the demands of this degree program.

Are there any assignments I need to complete before school starts?

Assignments for orientation were mailed to you. All other assignments can be found on the assignment board on the third floor of the College of Law or at our Website http://law.gsu.edu.

How do I find out what books I need and where do I get them?

A booklist is located on the bulletin board outside of the Student Affairs suite on the third floor. New and used books are available from the Georgia State University Bookstore. You may also check with the SBA bookstore for used books.

How do I get my prior student loans deferred?

Bring the deferment forms to the College of Law Registrar on the third floor of the College of Law.

Where can I eat on campus?

There are a variety of places to eat on and off campus. On-campus eateries are located on the third floor of the University Center, the first floor of the Student Center, the first floor University Bookstore Building, and the ground floor of Kell Hall. Many eateries off-campus include the food court at Underground and other eateries across from Woodruff Park. ?????????????????????????

How do I obtain information on student insurance?

An accident and hospitalization plan is available to Georgia State University students. Applications for the insurance are available in the Dean of Students office Room 300 Student Center.
